PRINCIPAL RESIGNS AT ACADEMY

A TEACHING union has claimed that at least 45 teaching jobs are likely to be cut at the Isle of Portland Aldridge Community Academy (IPACA).

The news comes after parents at IPACA were told by text that the principal had resigned.

They were told that Joss Hayes had stepped down "with immediate effect".

No reason was given. The National Union of Teachers confirmed it was talking to

by Trevor Bevins

IPACA about 45 fulltime equivalent posts and was in talks to try and reduce the number.

IPACA has now appointed Gary Spracklen as its Acting Principal with immediate effect.

Mr Spracklen was previously head teacher of King Barrow School, part of the Isle of Portland academy.

The academy school was rated inadequate by Ofsted and placed in special measures in January.

A November inspection had found that many pupils were achieving "significantly below average" results.

Ms Hayes, had worked at IPACA since November 2015.

A statement from Dorset County Council said that it remained committed to supporting the academy and the regional schools commissioner "to secure the best possible education for the children of Portland".

■ IPACA Principal Joss Hayes has resigned

Ms Hayes said following the negative Ofsted that she was determined to improve outcomes at the school

JULIA Hope Brightwell lives in East Devon but teaches Biodanza – meaning the Dance of Life – across the area, including in Burton Bradstock, and she will soon be starting at the Dorset School of Biodanza in Bridport.

Originally from Lancaster, she was headhunted and moved to the south as a textile studio manager in her early 20s, later moving to Dartmoor as a Montessori nursery teaches and eventually to East Devon.

As well as teaching Biodanza, Julia is also a part-time finance officer for a charity in Exeter and she enjoys painting and selling her work.

WHEN did you first take an interest in dance?

I have always loved music and dancing. In my teens and twenties, I went to three discos a week just to dance and get lost in the music. My secondary school dance teacher wanted me to come to her after-school ballet classes, but I thought I was too fat so didn't go, even though she asked me three separate times!

WHAT is Biodanza?

Biodanza translates as the Dance of Life. It is an international system danced worldwide, created by Rolando Toro Araneda who was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize. Rolando believed if everyone danced Biodanza there would not longer be wars and cruelty, as it joins people together, promotes celebration and acceptance of others, and opens the heart.

HOW did you come to teach Biodanza?

I have enjoyed many types of dance - Ceroc, 5 Rhythms, expressive movement, but it was only when I found Biodanza in 2008 that I knew this was what I would train in. I did three wonderful years of training, which was one of the best periods of my life, before teaching others in 2011. First on Dartmoor, then Dartington and, after moving to East Devon, I now teach in Colyton, Colyford and Burton Bradstock. I still teach my original group at Bovey Tracey too - a one-day workshop once a month.

Last year I completed my Didactic training so I can now teach people to become teachers themselves. I start with the Dorset School of Biodanza in May with the director, Mike Skilbeck, to welcome people on this journey of reconnection to the intelligence and joy of the body with its emotional and instinctual intelligence. The first two years are mainly experiential, then if people want to teach others they continue into the third year which gives them all they need to do this.

HOW can it benefit people?

Biodanza claims to work with the genetic potential that we are born with, but which sometimes gets shaped in a less free or natural way through our upbringing and life.

Through the various dances and movement exercises, these different aspects have a chance to be expressed and in some cases re-emerge.

Biodanza is based on enjoyment and has two parts; a vital section and a relaxing section. In this age of busy, busy where adrenalin is constantly being triggered, there is little opportunity to experience the opposite -relaxation where the hormone acetyl choline is released.

Personally for me, I had very low vitality and found groups difficult, preferring one-to-ones because of my sensitivity. Biodanza continues to improve my resilience and enjoyment of life and I am fine in groups now.

I even gave a presentation at my qualification time to over 50 people and was fine. A video of this is on my website www.joysofdance.co.uk, where I also share my poems and art inspired by the three-year Biodanza training.

On a weekly basis, with everything that is going on in the world at large, which can be distressing and challenging, Biodanza through the music and dance restores me to my happiness and belief in the basic goodness in people.

WHAT do you enjoy doing in your spare

I love nature and animals; painting, especially portraits; and travel.

WHAT do you like about the local area?

East Devon is very beautiful. I love seeing egrets and herons from my window. I like that it is close to other great places such as Lyme Regis and the coastal walk. Being near the sea is a tonic.

Bus Shelter funds close to £10k target

THE campaign to raise £10,000 to bring a converted double decker bus to Weymouth is nearing its target.

And as the online giving reaches £9.000 a Blandford company has stepped in to offer a bus

It will be converted for use as a shelter for the area's homeless.

Messages of support have also flooded in to the organisers, Emily McCarron and partner

Once converted the bus will provide up to 20 beds for rough sleepers and volunteers and will be based in the town centre.

The bus will be collected next week with conversion work due to start shortly afterward in the hope of having the bus in operation by the early summer. 'We have been overwhelmed by the support... "We have been inundated with donations from people offering their time. It's been amazing," said Emily. Amongst the items due to be fitted to the bus will be solar panels, a wood-burner, the addition of a kitchen area, sleeping 'pods' and storage space as well as room for private consulta-

Those with the relevant skills are now being asked to help with the conversion work.

Those using the bus will also be offered the use of the PO box which will help them apply for work and benefits.

THE Bus Shelter which runs of the Isle of Wight

As yet a location for the bus has to be agreed but the borough council is in talks with the organisers and have insisted that it must be capable of moving.

The running costs have been put at about £1,500 a month.

POLICE officers, staff and volunteers were recognised for their exceptional contribution to policing at the Dorset Police Annual Awards Ceremony

As family and friends of recipients looked on, a total of 23 awards were presented during the cere-mony, which was held at Queen Elizabeth's School in Wimborne.

The awards ceremony was an opportunity to recognise exceptional community policing and proactive crime reduction.

A number of awards were presented, including the Hambleton Award, which recognises the Uniformed Police Officer of the Year which was awarded to Weymouth Constable Stephen Newton.

The Dorset Criminal Justice Board (DCJB) Award recognises a team or individual that has delivered an outstanding contribution to Dorset's criminal justice system. The winner of this award was selected by the DCJB Board members and was presented to the Dorset Live Link Team, a multi-agency team consisting of members from Dorset Police, the Wessex Crown Prosecution Service, Her Majesty's Courts Services, and the Citizens Advice Witness Service, who work closely together to improve facilities for vulnerable witnesses.

Volunteers were also acknowledged for their dedication to policing including Peter Jones, the Chair of Weymouth and Portland Neighbourhood Watch, who was awarded the Watch Group of the Year Award for his tireless work to inspire members of the public to become coordinators and active members and Weymouth Special Inspector Emma West, who received the Special Constable of the Year Award. Chief Constable Debbie Simpson said: "The Force

Dangerous driver jailed for causing serious collision

A DANGEROUS driver who caused a serious injury collision in Weymouth has been jailed.

Scott White, 20 and of Langton Avenue in Weymouth, pleaded guilty at Bournemouth Crown Court to three counts of causing serious injury by dangerous driving and was handed a three-year jail sentence and a four-year driving ban on Friday, March 3rd.

The court heard that at around 8.25pm on Sunday, September 4th 2016 a head-on collision occurred on Preston Road between a BMW 320, being driven by Mr White, and a Volkswagen Golf.

A 17-year-old girl who was the front seat passenger in the BMW was cut out of the vehicle by the fire service and airlifted to Southampton General Hospital for treatment to serious injuries. A 17-year-old boy, who was in the rear passenger seat, also suffered serious injuries and was taken to Dorset County Hospital for treatment.

The 59-year-old female driver of the Volkswagen suffered a serious, non-life threatening neck injury and was taken to Dorset County Hospital for treatment.

The court was told that minutes before the collision Mr White's BMW was witnessed driving dangerously through the town. A witness described the BMW slowing down to enter the Chalbury Corner roundabout on Preston Road before accelerating hard and power sliding around it, nearly colliding with a wall.

The BMW was also spotted making dangerous overtaking manoeuvres along Preston Road, before colliding with the Volkswagen. The rear seat passenger of the BMW voluntarily surrendered his phone to police and officers discovered a short clip of the collision that had been recorded on the phone app Snapchat. The video showed a speedometer reading of 90mph seconds before impact. Screams from passengers in the car could also be heard.

Police Sergeant Joe Pardey, of the traffic unit, said: "This case highlights the dangers and horrific consequences of acts of stupidity on the road

"It is clear from the evidence presented that Mr White was showing off to others, driving dangerously and putting many lives at risk.

"His actions have caused lifechanging injuries to three other people and affected many others as a result. It is very fortunate that no one was killed and that Mr White has fully admitted his liability for causing those injuries and the subsequent devastation.

"I hope that the sentence passed today will continue to provide a deterrent to prevent dangerous driving on our roads and emphasise that it will not be tolerated.

"We will continue to investigate and seek the full support of the courts in bringing those people to justice."

Big plans for 'thriving' Pavilion

PROPOSALS which could see long-term improvements to Weymouth Pavilion were expected to be approved by Borough Councillors this week.

The council's management committee is being asked to grant a 30-year lease and offer £250,000 for maintenance works.

The building has been run by a Community Interest Company since 2013 with a marked improvement in the number of those attending performances and other events. Under council management the building had been running at a loss, but now makes a profit.

by Trevor Bevins

The cash grant will allow for a new roof and other works while granting the 30-year lease will allow the Pavilion operators to access other grants.

Councillors heard on Tuesday (March 7th) that the Pavilion was now thriving: "The current tenant has over the period made significant improvements to the operations, and has attracted a wide variety of different entertainment types. This has resulted in a vibrant and financially viable facility.

"Following these successes, and that the cost of any alternative theatre would be prohibitive, it has been accepted that the current theatre will remain and there will be no new facility."

Future plans for the Pavilion include adding an art gallery and restaurant.

Criminal Behaviour Order handed to repeat offender

A MAN who has been responsible for repeated anti-social behaviour incidents in Weymouth has been handed a Criminal Behaviour Order.

Francis James Carroll, 53 and of no fixed abode, was issued with the order by Weymouth Magistrates' Court on Monday, January 16th after being convicted the same day of theft and indecent exposure.

He was jailed for 12-weeks and released on licence on Friday, March 3rd.

The order is in place for five years and states that Francis Carroll must not:

- Act or incite others to behave in an anti-social manner, that is a manner that causes or is likely to cause harassment, alarm or distress to any persons within the commission area of Dorset.
- Use or incite others to use threatening, intimidating, insulting or abusive words or behaviour in any place to which the public has access in the commission area of Dorset.
- Enter the commission area of The Esplanade, Weymouth, from the Pier Bandstand to the Pleasure Pier behind Weymouth Pavilion.

Police Constable Billy Taylor, of Weymouth police, said: "We are determined to reduce the number of victims of anti-social behaviour across Weymouth and we are aware that Carroll has been involved in committing low-level anti-social be-

"This order will give Carroll a clear set of guidelines and rules that he must now comply with. If he does not comply with the provisions in this order, he will be committing a criminal offence for which he could be sent to prison.

"We would like to thank Weymouth and Portland and West Dorset Community Safety Team who have worked alongside officers from the Neighbourhood Policing Team to secure this order."

Harriet encourages more apprentices to sign up

WESSEX Water apprentice Harriet Dal Din is calling on more people in Dorset to consider taking up an apprenticeship.

As this week (March 6th-10th) marks National Apprenticeship Week, Harriet who lives in Dorchester, is encouraging others to consider an apprenticeship as a career path.

The call comes after this week Wessex Water announced it has almost 40 local apprenticeship opportunities on offer.

Twenty-year-old Harriet is currently on the water company's civil engineering higher level apprenticeship after previously attending The Thomas Hardye School. She said: "I'm a hands-on learner and was daunted by the thought of student debt, whereas now I'm receiving a relatively generous salary for my age.

"I really enjoy mixing my college work with being out on site – I love being outside and being part of a team."

The 10th National Apprenticeship Week is celebrating the success of apprenticeships over the last decade and encouraging more people to choose apprenticeships as a fast-track to a great career.

Farming seasons recreated with help of charity project

■ JAGUAR Land Rover apprentices with their manager Stuart Whiteman, Julie Plumley of Future Roots and Dan Hodgson demonstrating the tractor driving simulation

BRITISH Gas Weymouth Service Manager Darren Lane and engineer Paul Mowlem with Julie Plumley of Future Roots and Dan Hodgson demonstrating the milking cup simulation.

By Trevor Bevins

A PROJECT to re-create all four seasons in a farming year had been tried out at the Future Roots project on the outskirts of Dorchester.

The audio-visual presentation, Seasons in a Box, was developed from the Countrymen's Club for retired farmers and farmworkers, which meets at Future Roots and Rylands Farm, Sherborne.

Future Roots founder, Julie Plumley, conceived the idea of bringing the roadshow to former land workers who are house-bound because of illness or infirmity. It aims to re-connect them with their working lives and the outdoor environment as a former of therapy and to provide a talking point to spark conversation with others.

Julie believes that engagement with this roadshow will have a beneficial effect on the physical and mental wellbeing of the men involved.

The charity Remap helped with the project by making tactile simulations of related experiences such as the feel of snow, rain and the warmth of sunshine, driving a tractor and other farming activities.

The physical simulations were demonstrated last week at Future Roots by retired farmer Dan Hodgson.

JULIE Plumley of Future Roots with representatives from Remap, Jaguar Land Rover, British Gas and West Dorset District Council together with Dan Hodgson.

Representatives of Remap and two partner organisations, Jaguar Land Rover and British Gas, which had supported Remap by manufacturing some of the simulations, were invited to the launch.

Also present was Councillor Mary Penfold of West Dorset District Council, which contributed funding through its Social Inclusion programme.

Future Roots was set up by Julie Plumley 10-years-ago, originally to work with young people who were finding life challenging for a variety of reasons and were often excluded from school. It now provides an effective service to around one hundred young people a week at two care farms, Whitfield near Dorchester and Rylands between Dorchester and Sherborne.

Julie now plans to use Seasons in a Box with country people, and others, to evaluate the benefits to physical and mental health that can be gained by experiencing a simulation of nature by those who can no longer go outside to enjoy the real thing.

Remap is a national charity, founded just over 50-years-ago, that designs and makes equipment to enable disabled people to live independently and enjoy a good quality of life through hobbies and sports.

It operates through over 70 local panels of volunteers, helping nearly 4,000 clients a year nationwide.

West Dorset, from Swanage to Bridport and North to Blandford, is served by the Dorchester Panel, chaired by Mike Cowley.

The panel has around 12 active volunteers and Mike is always keen to hear from potential new recruits from anywhere within the area covered.

Anyone who would like to become involved with Remap should contact Mike by e-mailing remapdorchester@gmail.com or by ringing 01305 267860.

Volunteers needed

VOLUNTEERS are needed for a charity which supports homeless young people in Dorset.

Action for Children's Dorset Nightstop, which provides emergency support for people aged between 16 and 25, is holding an open event in Dorchester this Thursday, March 9th.

The group is looking for Independent Visitors, long-term mentors for young people who have little contact with their own families.

Simon Keys, Action for Children's volunteer coordinator in Dorset, said: "Our Independent Visitors helping young people navigate life at a vital time as they approach adulthood."

Other roles are also needed to be filled. The information evening will take place at the Relate offices, 2 Poundbury Business Centre, from 5.30pm until 8.30pm on March 9th.

Scout post thank you

VOLUNTEER "posties" who each year collect, sort and deliver the local Scout Post at Christmas time are being treated to a cream tea this weekend.

The helpers have been invited to the Sunninghill Community Hall on Saturday, March 11th by the Dorchester & West Dorset District Scout Council.

Tea and scones will be served to the helpers who each year raise thousands of pounds, enough money to keep all the local Scout troops going without the need for further fundraising.

Stained glass workshop Sign up and a big hit with islanders were given a modern airwhen a special stained glass demonstration workshop was held on Portland.

The sell-out event gave people an introduction to making stained glass objects using methods largely unchanged since the 14th century.

The event at the Royal Manor Workshops was taken by Martin Blundell who said: "Response was very good and we were sold out long before the event.

"Essentially the workshop was an opportunity for complete beginners to take their first steps in learning how to make stained glass objects."

He added that learners started out discovering how to cut glass, shape glass, bind its edges with copper tape and then solder parts together to make whatever shape they had chosen.

Martin said: "Popular shapes include birds, flowers and butterflies but anyone can make anything given Different types of glass were used from plain and clear to deeply coloured hammered or ripple glass. Martin said: "It is also possible to use glass which contains more than one colour in a streaked format.

"The people here today learnt all the basic tech-

Litter picking and tree planting on the Marsh

DOZENS of bags of litter were picked up from Weymouth's Marsh playing fields by volunteers on Saturday.

The Friends of the Marsh group organised the spring clean – along with the planting of dozens of trees in an area behind the town's swimming pool.

The Marsh lived up to its name with so much water in the holes dug for the trees that volunteers had to borrow buckets to bail them out before the trees could be planted.

Amongst the volunteers taking part in the event was local councillor Ryan Hope: "There's been a great turn-out, including the Brownies and Beavers, as well as the usual volunteers from the Friends of the Marsh," he said.

The majority of the litter comprised of discarded cans and bottles and wrappers from food – but also a number of bags of dog excrement.

"Why people take the trouble to put it in a bag and then throw the bag in the bushes is beyond me," said Councillor Hope, "there are adequate bigs around to use."

VOLUNTEERS prep the holes for the trees to be planted

Spring spruce-up in Westham

VOLUNTEERS at the Westham Community group are hoping to mark the beginning of spring by offering a garden make over for their neighbours.

The group, which is chaired by Councillor Christine James, is offering to carrying out free gardening work in an attempt to improve the look of the area.

This could involve cutting the grass and laying down gravel to make the area easier to maintain. Anyone who knows of a front or side garden that is facing the road is encouraged to get in contact with the group. The group will then decide which gardens they will be able to help with and work with the resident on how they would like to see their garden improved.

resident on how they would like to see their garden improved. Councillor James says the group is also looking at other projects in May/June to help improve the area – based on painting some art boards which can be displayed in and around the area. Artist Lesley Pitney, who lives in the area, will be helping design the boards and this will build on the community spirit that is starting to emerge in the area.

Those who know of someone who deserves a garden makeover, should contact community development officer Julie Hursthouse on 01305 838497 or email jhursthouse@dorset.gov.uk

Celebrating the joy of music for 30 years

By Trevor Bevins

WEYMOUTH has celebrated its 30th music festival with scores of musicians taking part on Saturday at Budmouth College.

Amongst those at the event was founder Janet Ferrett who set up the non-competitive event inspired b the BBC Young Musician of the Year programme.

"The first Weymouth Music Festival in 1988 attracted 100 entrants. Anyone could enter, all ages, either as individuals or in small groups, large choirs or

Symondsbury Kitchen

FLUTE and piano

orchestras for a small fee.

"It was to be a non-competitive festival and there were no marks or grades. Any kind of music was to be performed, not just classical works.

"All the known private music teachers were contacted as well as all the state and private schools. The festival took place at Weymouth College and a concert a week later at St John's Church."

This weekend's event took place in two halls on the Budmouth School site with the organ adjudication with Duncan Honeybourne at St Mary's Church, Dorchester.

Amongst the adjudicated classes were choirs and vocal ensembles, musical theatre, piano, strings, orchestras, bands and instrumental groups and brass and woodwind.

Guests for part of the day included the Mayors of both Weymouth and Portland and Chickerell.

"The festival strives to provide a friendly and supportive environment for all entrants with performers from a wide range of ages and abilities taking part," said chairman Alistair Dean.

The annual Weymouth Music Festival Concert will take place this Friday, March 10th at 7pm at Budmouth, admission £5 adults, children free.

"Police Mutual's Force for Good grant will allow The Lexi May Trust to fund the special days out, which can range from clothes shopping vouchers, to cinema tickets and attraction park entry".

Swapping bowls for tennis

AN application has been submitted to convert the former bowling green in Dorchester's Borough Gardens into tennis courts.

The change, if approved, will allow the town council to redevelop other tennis courts, on the opposite side of the Walks, into affordable homes.

Two new all-weather courts will be created by the conversion of the bowling green, close to the existing two courts.

If all goes to plan the new courts could be ready for use in the sum-held before the work starts on the corner of the site which lies close to the route of the old town walls, a Scheduled Ancient Monument. Comments on the proposals

CELEBRATING BUTCHERS'
CREATIVITY AND PASSION

COUNTY TOWN BUTCHERS

BORN and bred in Dorchester and with over 35 years experience in the Meat Trade both wholesale and retail, owner and proprietor Stuart Jury will be pleased to help you choose and cut meat to your requirements.

Stuart started his career at DIY wholesale butchers in Winterbourne Abbas, and learnt the cutting and serving skills required. From there he spent many years honing his skill in a selection of local Butchers including Quantock Veal on the Poundbury industrial estate (he was there for over 9 1/2 years,) Case & Sons in Shaftesbury where he learnt about Injection cured bacon, SJ Normans in Bridport, Denhay Farms in Broadoak and then on to their new plant in Honiton to learn about Dry cured bacon and Air Dried Ham. He then returned back to SJ Normans and ran their retail shop for over 8 years before opening his own shop in Dorchester town centre in December of 2013.

Faggots, Burgers and Sausages are all made in the shop using the best ingredients, also Salt Beef, and Cured Ox Tongue. Free Range Chickens from the Piddle Valley chicken and Venison is also available as well as other seasonal Game.

Please feel free to come into the Shop and discuss your meat requirements with him, and any useful cooking tips he may have. With the wealth of knowledge and experience he has in the trade, he welcomes customers old and new and gives each one his undivided attention.

Serves: 2

Preparation time: 10 minutes
Cooking time: (2cm/¾in thick steak):
Rare: 2½ minutes on each side.
Medium: 4 minutes on each side.
Well done: 6 minutes on each side
Cooking time for vegetables: Under 30minutes.

Ingredients

- 300g / 10½oz lean rump or thick sirloin steaks
- 300g / 10½oz small new potatoes
- · Large pinch paprika powder
- 30ml / 2tbsp extra virgin olive oil
- Salt & freshly milled back pepper
- 2 garlic cloves, peeled & chopped
- •1 small red onion, peeled & thinly sliced
- 2.5ml / ½tsp dried chilli flakes
- 100ml / 3½floz dry red wine

Method

- 1. Preheat the oven to Gas mark 7, 220°C, 425°F.
- 2. Place the potatoes in a non-stick roasting tin. Add the paprika and half the oil, toss gently, season and roast for 25 minutes. 15 minutes before the end of the cooking time remove the tin, add the garlic and onions, toss gently and return to the oven.
- 3. Place the steaks on a chopping board, season on both sides and dust with the chilli flakes. Heat the remaining oil in a heavy based frying or griddle pan and cook the steaks according to your preference. Remove the steak and keep warm.
- 4. In the same pan add the wine and simmer for 2-3 minutes or until reduced by half, scraping the base of the pan with a wooden spoon to release any sediment. Add any meat juices from the steak plate to the pan.
- 5. Divide the potato mixture between two serving plates. Slice the steak on the diagonal and arrange on top of the potatoes. Drizzle over the red wine sauce and serve immediately with a red chicory salad.

BUTCHERS' WEEK

CELEBRATING BUTCHERS CREATIVITY AND PASSION

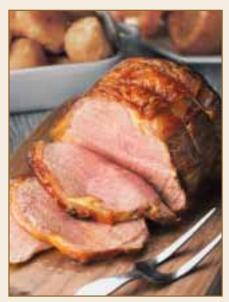

National Butchers' Week will be urging consumers to turn to the experts for their meat with the message that #butcherisbetter

THIS year's National Butchers' Week will focus on the fantastic innovation that takes place within butchers' shops across the land.

Rod Addy, editor of Meat Trades Journal, said it was a chance to get creative. "National Butchers' Week is an opportunity for a business to show off its creativity. Some of the most successful butchers in the country do amazing work to create new dishes that tempt customers and increase basket spend.'

As well as coverage in Meat Trades Journal, be sure to follow National Butchers' Week on Facebook and Twitter using the #ButchersGiveYouldeas hashtag to keep on top of what's happening in the run-up to the week and perhaps spark some creativity.

DORSET'S KIWI BUTCHER

Traditional butchers in Dorchester

DORSET'S Kiwi Butcher is Dion Tantrum, an experienced butcher originally from New Zealand, who is proud of the quality meats and high levels of customer service he provides. Also offered are catering services and a 'cut and pack' service for local farmers and farm shops.

Try our range of sausages, with traditional pork and beef sausages a speciality. Specialist flavours such as pork and apricot and gluten free sausages can be found too. If you are feeling brave, why not try the nicknamed, 'Death by Sausage' sausage. This fiery sausage contains the Carolina Reaper pepper, the hottest chili in the world rating 1.5 million on the Scoville scale, 400 times hotter than the Jalapeno! Our sausages are handmade with different flavours to try every week!

Our burgers are made from high-quality pork, beef and lamb, and taste delicious. From minced beef to sirloin steaks, all our meats are fresh and tender, with a great taste!

Alongside our great quality meat selection, we also stock a variety of other produce including a great selection of cheeses, eggs, butter, preserves and more.

If you are looking for the freshest, high-quality meat, poultry and dairy produce in the Dorchester area, call in to see the Kiwi Butcher on Maud Road, or call 01305 250 800. Dion is waiting for your visit or call!

Crewman rescued

WEYMOUTH RNLI all-weather lifeboat evacuated an injured crewman from a container ship on passage between Antwerp and Spain.

The crew were called out last Wednesday morning to the 210m container ship Mersk Niemburg.

The ship was 10 miles South of Portland Bill when the lifeboat arrived on scene at just after 11am.

The crewman who had suffered a crush injury to his right hand was transferred to the lifeboat where the volunteer crew administered first aid to the injured hand whilst the lifeboat made its way back to Weymouth Harbour.

The lifeboat returned back to harbour just after 1 pm where it was met by an ambulance who transferred the causality to Dorset County Hospital.

Prison development needs a rethink

THE Prison Development needs a rethin

After two years of feeling a lone voice speaking out about access via the Bow, I was delighted to hear that Sarah Wilkinson has taken up the issue of road safety and that the Prison development plans may be reconsidered.

We all have to make difficult choices, but I believe that there has been an over emphasis on prison conservation irrespective of the consequences. This has been particularly true of the Civic Society, which I tried and failed to get to think strategically.

I was very interested in Councillor Gerald Dukes' letter highlighting how strong local conservation pressure groups had insisted on the conservation of the prison wall and chimney pots above all other issues, including social housing. So these pressure groups are the reason that social housing was not viable!

Being concerned over St Peters, Councillor Duke has obtained an agreement to measure vibration, however, this will only warn of impending disaster. We need a better solution. We need new ideas and new plans that protect St Peters and the Corn Exchange, reduce congestion and pollution, and ensure road safety for pedestrians, rather than prison walls and chimney pots and developers profits. None of the roads are suitable for heavy vehicles but Glyde Path Road is broader than most and I suggest is suitable at least during construction. So a road access to the prison site from Glyde Path road needs to be more actively pursued.

If this site is too difficult for the developer, then I suggest that they sell it to the council for £1, then the site is flattened (except for the listed building), a new road is built through it, and a mixture of environmentally pleasing private and social housing is built on the site.

Rob on 01297 446146

or email rob.coombe@viewnews.co.uk

whist no one would wish to see the site rot, it may be preferable for it to rot behind the attractive wall than to have a development which will damage Dorchester for years to come.

The Prison development needs a total rethink, especially by the County Highways Department.

School funding is at its highest level

■ I AM writing in response to a story that appeared in the View From on March 1st, under the headline "Schools' funding cuts to have significant impact".

As the minister responsible for school funding in England, I am determined to end the historical post-code lottery of the current school funding system which sees children with similar needs receive very different amounts of funding in different parts of the country.

Funding every child fairly and according to their specific needs sits at the heart of delivering the government's pledge to build a country that works for everyone, not just the privileged few. School funding is at its highest level on record and will be over £40billion in 2016-17. Schools funding is driven by pupil numbers and, where pupil numbers rise, the amount of money schools receive will also increase.

But the current system for distributing school funding is unfair, opaque and outdated. It is based on inconsistent decisions that have built up over many years and on pupil information that is over a decade old.

The case for change is clear. That is why we are

The case for change is clear. That is why we are proposing to introduce a national funding formula that will create a system that funds schools fairly and according to the needs of their current pupils, not just their postcode.

Under the proposed formula, more than half of England's schools will receive a cash boost — including schools across Dorset which would see funding increase by 2.4 per cent, which is just over £5million, if the proposed new funding formula was implemented in full. And, while some schools in Dorset will see reductions as we bring the funding system up to date, we have built significant protections in to the formula, so that no school will face a reduction of more than more than 1.5 per cent per pupil per year or three per cent per pupil overall.

It is also important to note that every school is funded individually, and where schools in Dorset are due to see increases under our formula, this is not at the expense of other Dorset schools. Rather, our formula bases each school's funding on the individual needs of its pupils, so schools with pupils with additional needs, including those from disadvantaged backgrounds, would receive significant additional funding.

We do recognise that schools are facing cost pressures, so we will continue to provide advice and support to help them use their funding in cost effective ways; for example, by helping schools improve the way they buy goods and services.

We know that it is important that we get the formulae right so that every pound has the greatest impact. Our consultation runs until March 22nd 2017, and we are keen to hear from as many schools, governors, local authorities and parents as possible.

Nick Gibb MP Schools Minister

People expect council to do better

■ CLAUDIA Sorin, on behalf of Dorchester Labour, has submitted a petition signed by 400 West Dorset residents calling on West Dorset District Council to invest the same amount of money that it spent on the council premises, £9.7million, on building low cost housing in the local area.

There are over 1,000 households on the waiting list for housing in West Dorset and in addition to this there are many young people and families in privately rented housing, which is often insecure and too expensive to allow them build up any savings.

West Dorset has lower than national average pay and higher than national average house prices. House prices outstrip wages by 2:1.

WDDC has sold off assets and land to private developers and have allowed housing developments to go ahead with little or no affordable homes being provided, thus making the housing situation worse for local families and working people. The council should also be enforcing its own policy that new housing developments must include 35 per cent affordable homes.

This petition shows that local people expect the council to do better, and calls on the council to invest in decent, genuinely affordable homes for its residents.

The council has land and assets as well as £54million in reserves that could be used for investment in homes. Other councils are working with housing associations and investing in housing. This petition shows that West Dorset residents believe it is high time WDDC starts doing this too.

Also we would like to praise the work done by the officers on the Local Plan.

But we would like a clause added, that if there is a viability study to allow developers to exclude 35 per cent affordable housing, the full viability study must publicly be published. This is done by Southwark and other London councils. Perhaps WDDC could get advice from them? Otherwise viability studies excluding affordable housing could become the norm, and none of us want that!

A MOVING EXPERIENCE

So, are you one of the millions who can't afford - or choose not

by Hannah Stephenson, Press Association

WITH nearly 50% of householders aged 25 to 35 renting a property, and an increasing number of landlords paving over gardens to make them 'no maintenance', taking your garden with you is a concept many of us might consider.

designer Tanya Batkin, who will be showing her 'Moveable Feast Garden' at the new RHS Chatsworth House Flower Show in Der-Batkin explains: "My daughter is 'generation rent' with a tiny outdoor space - we are talking one pot. She had to have something bombproof, so we went for some succucould put in one bamboo, some grasses and a heuchera, which is great for all-year-round interest. It gives you a nice combination of form and foliage.

brightly coloured wooden planters in palette and half-palette sizes. They are all on wheels, she points out, so easy to move.

'Rent generation' gardeners can buy wheeled stands and trolleys with which to move all manner of containers. There are many portable compost bins on the market - some of which are available free through local authorities - as well as lighter, resinbased containers, self-contained, easy-tomove water features and stick-in-the-ground solar lighting.

And you don't have to limit yourself to having flowering ornamental plants in your moveable pots, says Batkin.

"Because my show garden is called 'Moveable Feast', there's going to be a lot of edible planting. Things like bay, rosemary and lavender will grow happily in pots."

Planting with a view that you will not be in one place for long is a growing trend, says Mark Sage, head of horticulture at Wyevale Garden Centres.

"We continue to see a real interest in instant solutions from customers who are renting rather than buying properties now, and are more transient and wanting to take their purchases with them from house to house."

Plants with all-year-round interest such as viburnums are proving popular to give structure, flower and berries, and can be grown in pots which you can move, as well as camellias and perpetual-flowering patio roses, such as 'Carpet' roses and 'Fairy' roses, he says.

Edibles are also easy to grow in pots and are moveable. Dwarf fruit trees are also increasing in popularity, says Sage. "Even in our 'grow your own' selections, we've seen an increase in patio varieties, simply because people have smaller spaces.

Things like terrace patio fruit, varieties which are grafted on to a rootstock and will grow to about 5ft tall, will thrive in smaller spaces. We have tomato ranges which are suitable for pots and hanging baskets. Growing in smaller spaces is a focus for us.

"The continued interest in 'grow your own' has seen the breeders working extensively on getting really good, productive, great tasting fruit and vegetables suitable for container gardening, particularly with fruit trees.

Here are some of Batkin's tips to help the 'generation rent' maintain and move their gardens:

ON THE MOVE?

- · If you have large plants or shrubs, gently contain wayward stems with strips of hessian to reduce damage during your move.
- · Don't water your pots the night before the move, which will just increase their weight.
- Nobody likes carrying soggy pots. If you are moving yourself, it's worth investing in, or hiring, a sack truck for the bigger pots.

HOW TO MAKE A TREE STUMP PLANTER

It's simple, hollow out the stump to make a planting hole, fill it with potting soil and plant your favorite plants...

www.balconygardenweb.com

STEP 1: Hollow it out from the center using whatever the sharp tool you have like a mattock, an axe or a chainsaw.

STEP 2: Work on to make a hole that is 4-8 inches deep and has at least 3 inches border.

STEP 3: With the help of a drill, make drainage holes into the side of the stump so that they slope down towards the ground and water will drain from them easily.

STEP 4: With all the previous three steps done, your DIY tree stump planter is complete. Now fill it with well draining potting soil that is rich in compost and plants your favorite flowers in it.

Weymouth Matters

A personal View by HARRY WALTON

THIS week's Growing Old Disgracefully considers donating blood and whether pensioners have enough to spare.

Elderly males are perhaps the best yardstick for this situation since they can be frequently heard telling their other half: "How much? You're bleeding me dry!"

But this doesn't mean his wife is forcing him to give too much blood, merely that he feels what cash he does have is – from his point of view – being siphoned off a bit too much "down the bingo".

Reality has to dawn and pensioners giving blood should be approached from a much more rational point of view, namely whether either of their mother-in-laws is still alive.

If they are and an independent bystander can conclusively prove that said pensioners have bite marks on their necks then there is the possibility that their upstairs bedroom housing a bat-like shadowy figure which only comes out at night or for Strictly Come Dancing might be worth an extra check.

Such pensioners definitely don't have enough spare blood to donate!

Another niggle to add to the list

FIRST impressions count and those people looking at Weymouth are likely to have grim faces.

Parking charges are always a touchy subject and have been cited as a contributory factor in the recent closure or move of several businesses.

But the gloom is far wider than that be it empty shops, never ending roadworks, developments ripping the green heart out of the town or simply the frustration motorists feel trying to negotiate their way through Weymouth's mind-numbing traffic system.

So a little snippet of news putting the icing on a very unappetising Weymouth cake may have slipped under some people's radar. It is this.

The council is thinking about ending 30 years of free deckchairs for residents over 60 and wants people's opinion on the idea.

Now it may not be the most earth-shattering debate that councillors have had but it all adds to that perceived impression of the town.

It is another niggle to add to a long and idents are having to endure.

Amusingly one of the council comments made about the possible withdrawal of this over-60s deckchair concession is that there are still lots of seafront benches and walls for elderly people to sit on free of charge.

Of course there are! But the point is, there are only so many free seating places.

The influx of angry 60+ promenaders who have been turfed off their free deckchair is going to swamp every nook and cranny of remaining free seating, fuelling frustration and grumpiness at residents' increasingly poor lot.

What price the alleged £5,000 saving then? It will be swamped by ill will - and the overall Weymouth picture hasn't even got round to the touchy subjects of an above average council tax increase for 2017-2018 or dogs on the beach!

Let's all hope for a bumper sunny summer because those Weymouth's residents unable to find a free seafront wall seat will really need something to smile at.

A fresh look is needed for rubbish disposal charges

MORE and more residents are finding their enjoyment of the countryside marred by fly-tipping.

This column has previously backed a sharp increase in fines and penalties to help deter such criminals because there can be no excuse for using picturesque spots as a dumping ground for rubble, waste building materials or old sofas and mattresses.

We ultimately pay the clean-up costs, but it appears that waste disposal groups and those in charge of fighting our corner lack a cutting edge of appreciation both for what exactly is going on or for how to efficiently deal with it. No sane person would condone the actions of a few fly-tippers which cost the public purse tens of thousands of pounds simply so a few criminals can avoid paying rubbish tip charges.

Offences deserve a sharp response but, for the sake of sanity, can it be a response people can put their faith in that the authorities know what they are doing and not the response that appears to have been given for public consumption.

That verbal piece of Never Never Land has seen claims that research ahead of introducing tip charges indicated there would be no long term significant impact on flytipping although they admit short term fly-tipping could be increased. You don't say!

But the icing on the cake has to be an alleged comment by our protectors that enforcement will target hotspots, paying particular attention to......cigarette ends and chewing gum!

But offenders are not dodging going to the tip to avoid charges for cigarette ends and chewing gum because there aren't any such charges!

Flytipping usually involves big items but the authorities clearly can't see the big picture. Perhaps a fresh look is needed.

Celebration of Legendary Jazz Singer Billie Holiday

KNOWN FOR her definitive interpretations of classic jazz standards such as Summertime, Love Me or Leave Me and God Bless the Child, Billie Holiday is considered to be one of the greatest jazz vocalists of all time. Listen to vocalist Julie Dunn and pianist Philip Clouts in a tribute to Holiday's ongoing legacy as part of the Marine Theatre 'Jazz in the Bar' series in Lyme Regis on Sunday, March 12th.

Born in America in 1915, by 1933 Billie Holiday was already singing in Harlem jazz clubs, where she was discovered by the producer and talent scout John Hammond, Hammond immediately arranged three recording sessions for her with Benny Goodman and found more work for her in New York clubs. In 1935, he began recording her regularly, usually under the direction of Teddy Wilson, with studio bands that included many of the finest jazz musicians of the day. These recordings, made between 1935 and 1942, constitute a major body of jazz music; many include work by saxophonist Lester Young, with whom Holiday had particular empathy. The recordings caught the attention of musicians throughout America and soon other singers were working in Holiday's light, Popularity with a wider audience came more slowly. Holiday joined Count Basie in 1937 and Artie Shaw in 1938, becoming one of the first black singers to be featured with a white orchestra. She started to have success with slow, melancholy songs of unrequited love, particularly Lover Man (1944). By the end of the 1940s, she was a popular star, and in 1946 took part in the film New Orleans with Louis Armstrong and Kid Ory.

Although she continued to sing and record, and to tour frequently until the mid-1950s, it was no longer with her former spirit and skill. She died

Holiday is often considered the foremost female singer in jazz history, a view substantiated by her influence on later singers. Her voice carried a wounded poignancy that was part of her attraction for audiences.

Julie Dunn is the perfect vocalist to pay tribute to Billie Holiday. She has released four CDs, playing alongside Johnny Dankworth's son Alec, and she has toured the country playing in prestigious venues such as the Vortex and the 606 Club in London.

Julie will be joined by pianist Philip Clouts of whom Jazzwise Magazine has said "Clouts' solos have an attractively crisp, bluesy clarity that's punctuated with evocative impressionism".

Julie Dunn and Philip Clouts perform for Jazz in the Bar at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis on Sunday, March 12th at 8pm. Tickets are £11, available online at www.marinetheatre.com or by calling 01297 442138.

Brit Award winner Beverly Craven plays Dorchester

BRIT AWARD winner Beverly Craven will be performing both her timeless classics and new material at Dorchester Arts this Saturday, March 11th.

Dorchester Arts is one of a handful of select venues to be hosting Beverly as she continues to promote her acclaimed latest album 'Change of Heart'.

Beverley became a household name in the early 90s with her single, Promise Me, becoming a huge hit across Europe. She followed that up with a string of chart successes including 'Memories', 'Holding On', 'Woman To Woman' and 'Love Scenes'. Her new album is a more personal reflection on her life and career following a recent recovery from breast cancer."

With a witty narrative and unforgettable melodies, her poignant sentiments will leave you with a warm glow of nostalgia, or maybe even the odd tear.

Beverly Craven plays at Dorchester Corn Exchange on Saturday, March 11 at 8pm

Tickets are £22.50 full price or £20.50 for Members of Dorchester Arts, under-18s or those on low income, and are available from the Dorchester Arts box office on 01305 266926, in person at the Corn Exchange (weekdays 10am - 4pm) or via the website at www.dorchesterarts.org.uk

An Absolute A to Z of Bowie

ABSOLUTE BOWIE is Europe's Finest David Bowie Tribute. The five piece has toured all over Europe for the last 8 years, faithfully performing the music of David Bowie with uncanny accuracy. The audience are taken on a journey experiencing the different personas of Bowie, from Ziggy Stardust and Aladdin Sane through to The Thin White Duke and the late 80s.

Absolute Bowie has been voted one of the best tribute bands in the UK with their energetic (and theatrical!) stage show. Prepare to be taken from A to Z (Absolute Beginners to Ziggy!) with Stations to Station in between.

Absolute Bowie play live at The Gateway in Seaton on Friday, March 17th, with doors opening at 7.30pm. Tickets are £15 in advance, or £18 on the door, available from The Gateway Box Office 01297 625699 open Monday-Friday 10am to 4pm, and Saturday 10am to 1pm. Card payments accepted.

Oxley Meier Guitar Project

TWO ACCOMPLISHED guitarists present a dazzling display of contemporary music, ranging from Turkish panache to soundscapes of latin America to English pastoralism.

The Oxley Meier Guitar Project play on nylon string, steel string, electric, 12 string, fretless, slide, guitar-synth, and glissentar guitars.

The Oxley Meier Guitar Project will perform at Bridport Arts Centre's Jazz Cafe on Friday, March 10th at 8pm. Tickets are £10, available online at www.bridport-arts.com, or by calling 01308 424204.

The duo will also play at the Marine Theatre, Lyme Regis on Saturday, March 11th at 8pm.

Marine Theatre to screen Embrace

BODY IMAGE activist Taryn Brumfitt wrote, produced and directed Embrace after an unconventional 'before and after' photo she posted in 2013 was seen over 100 million times and sparked an international media frenzy.

The Marine Theatre will be showing Embrace this Thursday, March 9th at 8pm.

Embrace is told from the point of view of Taryn as she traverses the globe talking to experts, women in the street and well-known personalities about the alarming rates of body image issues that are seen in people of all body types. She interviews Ricki Lake, Amanda de Cadenet, Jeffrey Madoff, Dr Linda Bacon, Mia Freedman and more.

Taryn says: "I felt really compelled to make the film because so many people had reached out to me.

"When I read those 7000 emails it wasn't just females from 35 to 45 years of age that wrote to me it was people from all walks of life sharing their stories of body image issues.

"This isn't a fluffy, body image piece that gets tacked on to the end of a news segment, this is an issue that's affecting millions of people every single day."

Tickets for the screening of Embrace are £9.75, available at tickets.demand.film/event/1506

Celebrating Ella's centenary

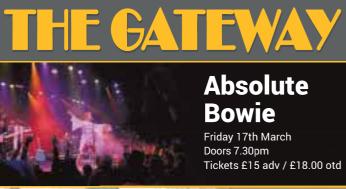

PRAISED as the 'First lady of Song', Ella Fitzgerald was a much loved jazz singer who applied her impeccable vocal style to many of the tunes which have become known as the 'Great American Songbook'.

In what is Ellas centenary year, her inspirational singing will be celebrated by vocalist Maggie Reeday (who has appeared four times on ITV and sung with the BBC Radio Orchestra) featuring internationally renowned pianist Philip Clouts & his Trio. Expect to hear many favourites including How High The Moon and The Lady is a Tramp.

Maggie Reeday and Philip Clouts play at The Gateway in Seaton on Friday, March 24th. Doors open 7.30pm with performance 8pm. Tickets are £13 in advance, available from The Gateway Box Office 01297 625699.

Touch Stones

B-SIDE upped sticks and made the permanent move to the Isle of Portland in Dorset last year. Taking over an empty shop space in Fortuneswell, the new space became a real hub at the Festival in September and has since hosted various community and artist events.

This March sees the start of programme of activities that will experiment with and investigate how b-side and others can make use of the project space. A creatively diverse programme is already shaping up, beginning with work by Somerset sculptor Simon Hitchens.

Simon is showing a group of work entitled 'Touch Stones' which centres on his film Genesis, which explores ideas of what it is to be human and our relationship to the impermanence of life. There is an uncanny simplicity to the film like the meditative calm found in a Zen garden, where displaced rocks become almost body-like. What at first appears to be a benign boulder sat in an arcane landscape slowly begins to take on human qualities: is this a genesis, or the genesis?

Talking on the project, Simon commented: "The film can be viewed as a landscape painting, a still life or even a self-portrait. I chose to use film because I wished to explore my ideas through a new medium, one that challenged how I went about making my art. The process of making it was slow, and involved working with a technical editor which in turn allowed me a greater degree of objectivity that I found rewarding."

Join Simon at outpost on Saturday, March 16th at 7pm to hear more about his work. Please see website for all info and booking de-

'Touch Stones' is open from March 16th until April 8th, Tuesday to Saturday, 12-5pm. Admission FREE. For more details visit the website www.b-side.org.uk

Mother and Daughter: I'm Glad I Asked!

AS WOMEN march en masse of the research and a free workacross the world in protest at the new Trump Presidency, and we celebrate International Women's Day on Wednesday, March 8th, it has become an important time in history for women to make their voices heard. A solo show coming to The Lyric Theatre in Bridport on Friday, March 10th celebrates mothers and daughters in a special and timely performance. Dorset artist and performer

Michele O'Brien, now caring for her elderly mother, began a year ago to ask her mother the answers to the questions she had always wanted to know but didn't like to ask. Michele then embarked on a year-long project to encourage Mothers and Daughters to ask each other all the things they wanted to know before it was essentially too late. Accompanied by visual artist Denise Poote and photographer Caroline Johnson, Michele worked with women and recorded the questions and answers to some comfortable and not so comfortable ques-

Michele's research led her to create a new one-woman show exploring the relationship with her own mother. She now brings it to The Lyric Theatre in Bridport on Friday, March 10th, accompanied by an exhibition shop for mothers and daughters the following day.

Mother and Daughter: I'm Glad I Asked is a funny, tender heart-felt, one woman show drawn from workshops across the area with local women and life with Michele's own 91-yearold mother, Gena. It is an honest and truthful reflection on what it means to have an older parent and the questions we need to ask, but rarely get the chance to. We often hear people say "If only I asked!" when a parent is no longer with us but Michele is determined to change that.

Michele and her director Katherina Radeva were at The Lyric for a fortnight in September last year to create the piece. Michele says, "The Lyric was a beautiful creation space to work in and we can't wait to bring the finished show back

Tickets are £12, available in advance from Bridport Arts Centre: 01308 424204 / www.bridport-arts.com and BearKat Bistro, or on the door if available from 7pm.

An exhibition of the research and work that took place in workshops in Dorset over the last year takes place on Friday, March at 8pm (doors 7pm).

A free memory workshop for Mothers and Daughters (16yrs+) takes place on Saturday, March 11th, 11am to 12.30pm.

Howzat?! One-man show about cricket legend comes to Dorchester

THE HIGH SHERIFF of Dorset and Dorset County Cricket Club are combining to sponsor a second performance in the county of the oneman show "When the Eye Has Gone", to be staged in the Theatre of the Thomas Hardye School in Dorchester at 7.30pm on Monday, March 20th. All proceeds will be divided between the Dorset Shrievalty Charitable Trust and the mental health charity MIND.

Those of us with longish memories and a love of cricket may remember Colin (Ollie) Milburn as one of England's most exciting and likeable players, whose star burned brightly, but, sadly, all too briefly.

This is the theme of a brilliant oneman show, "When the eye has gone", based on his life, which is taking place on Monday, March 20th at 7.30pm, at the Thomas Hardye's School Theatre,

Queens Avenue, Dorchester DT1 2ET. The show received great reviews in The Guardian and The Telegraph, and from its tour around the 18 first-class counties. The attached press releases give more details of both the show and which proceeds will be given.

Tickets are only £10. To reserve tickets, contact Mike Williams on 01305 756593 or mikewilliams969@hotmail.com

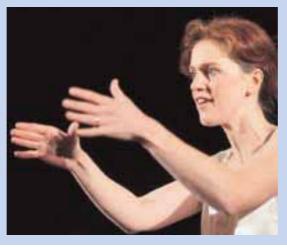

Bridport Story Cafe: The Falcon Bride

BEAUTIFUL, fierce and deadly, Hallgerd is not a woman to be taken lightly, ripping through husbands like a falcon through its prey. But has she met her match in Gunnar, a true Viking hero?

Katy Cawkwell tells episodes from the great Icelandic Njal's Saga, offering a fascinating glimpse into pagan society in the land of fire and ice. Darkly comic, tragically romantic by turns, this is a tale of sex, murder, power politics and the importance of salt fish... the original Nordic Noir!

Katy has been storytelling for 20 years across Britain and beyond. She is well-known for unravelling epic narratives into compelling, glittering stories that linger in the mind long after they are told.

The storytelling begins at 7.30pm on Friday, March 17th. The evening is suitable for adults and older children. Tickets are £8 (£5 concessions) available on the night and in advance from Bridport Arts Centre box office 01308 424204 or website www.bridport-arts.com

Salaam

Sonia Sabri Company bring 'peace' to Dorset

SALAAM, meaning 'peace', is Sonia Sabri Company's latest stunning creation, devised in response to the unrest around the world. This double-bill programme cleverly weaves a dialogue between live music and Kathak dance, and will be touring to Dorset in March through Artsreach, the counties touring arts charity.

Sonia Sabri Company is one of Britain's leading South Asian Dance and Music companies, exciting the national and international dance scene by presenting Kathak dance in new spaces and contexts, and to new audiences, developing a distinctive, contemporary style which speaks to the here and now. With the world-renowned Tabla maestro Sarvar Sabri performing outstanding compositions of rhythm, and accompaniment on powerful vocals by the talented Shoma Dey on the harmonium, the performance is fuelled with a vibrating a resonance

Poignant metaphorical narratives combined with Sonia's command of intricate footwork, eloquent gesture and rapid spins takes audiences on a powerful journey. Early booking is advised.

Sonia Sabri Company bring Salaam to Halstock Village Hall on Friday, March 17th at 7.30pm.

Oh My Country!

Shappi Khorsandi talks everything from Morris Dancing to Morrissey in her new show SHAPPI is celebrating the fortieth anniversary of her arrival in Britain. She's reclaiming patriotism, sending a love letter to her adopted land. Please don't come if you're a skinhead (though naturally bald folk are welcome).

Star of Live At The Apollo, Michael McIntyre's Comedy Roadshow, Friday Night with Jonathan Ross, Have I Got News for You and Q.I, she is back with a brand new show for 2017.

She has whip-crack jokes and is effortlessly funny as she handles every subject with a razor sharp wit, softened only by her deliciously mischievous delivery and endless charm.

Shappi Khorsandi is also the best selling author of 'A Beginners Guide to Acting English' and her debut novel 'Nina is not OK' is published by Ebury in July 2016. Shappi was also recently elected president of the British Humanist society.

Shappi Khorsandi comes to Bridport Arts Centre this Friday, March 10th at 8pm. Tickets are £15, and £13 concessions, available online at www.bridport-arts.com or by calling 01308 424204. The show is suitable for over 165 only.

Banff Mountain Film Festival returns bigger than ever!

THE Banff Mountain Film Festival World Tour is back in the UK and Ireland for 2017, with more screenings and more action than ever before.

Featuring an evening of exhilarating adventure films, the tour comes to Weymouth Pavilion on Friday, March 24th.

"İt's fantastic to be back with our biggest tour yet a reflection of the enormous appetite for adventure that UK and Irish audiences have," says Tour Di-

"The Banff Tour is more than a series of exhilarating film nights. Each screening offers a real sense of community, bringing together people with a wide range of outdoor passions. And we guarantee that viewers will leave with new enthusiasm and inspiration for their own adventures too!"

The short films, starring the world's top adventurers on exciting journeys in mind-blowing destinations, are selected from hundreds of films entered into the prestigious Banff Mountain Film Festival held every year in the Canadian Rockies.

This year's UK and Ireland tour includes 14 hugely diverse films, featuring everything from tales of high-adrenaline action to poignant environmental documentaries. There's also a significant focus on women in adventure; and the collection stars a number of UK adventurers, as well as athletes and escapades from all over the globe.

The films are split between two different programmes, each lasting about 21/2 hours, with free prize giveaways at each screening. The tour is part of the wider Banff World Tour, which travels the globe each year, visiting nearly 50 countries and reaching more than 400,000 people worldwide.

The full film programme is available at www.banff-uk.com/films.

ON THE SHOWBIZ BEAT

Time to turn the mobiles off, theatregoers

MY THEATRICAL enjoyment was once again hampered this week by the scourge of the mobile phone. It comes in a week when the government has introduced stiffer penalties for those using their phone while driving and I think we should all take a long hard look at our need for almost constant engagement with the digital world.

Those of you who know me well, will have noticed that I'm a bit of a slave to social media and I hate missing emails or messages, however I would never have my phone on in the car and would die of embarrassment if it ever went off in the theatre.

During a media night performance of Wicked last week the couple sitting in front of me intermittently checked their social media throughout the performance, which was hugely distracting for those around them.

We are not talking about the sound of ringing or even the odd ping of a message (which most people thankfully now understand to be inappropriate) but instead a continuous influx of light pollution, which detracted from the carefully crafted ambience.

What many people don't realise is that your phone acts as a spotlight when you're in the theatre, so everyone on stage and around the auditorium can see you.

In fact, when I perched in an onstage seat at a recent performance of This House at the Garrick Theatre, one particular numpty was lit up like a carnival float for most of Act one, as she couldn't bear to be away from her phone.

It's generally not young people who are the main culprits either, and I just wish we could fine the perpetrators and use the money to pay for those less fortunate to attend in their stead.

I know hundreds of people who simply can't afford to see West End shows and yet night after night there are rude and selfish people who buy tickets and then don't pay attention to the production.

Someone once told me that they had a family emergency and so they had to keep the phone on just incase the situation changed. If you've got a family emergency, why the devil are you going to the theatre in the first place?

Worse than that, at my most recent visit to the Arts Theatre for a press performance, a reviewer who was sitting next to me kept lighting up to check messages throughout. I scowled at him, but he didn't take the hint.

I have previously simply told people to turn their phones off, but you are never sure if you're going to be greeted with an angry response, so I've become more careful recently.

It's not just phones that cause anger among regular theatregoers and this week the issue of whether food should be allowed has been a hot topic.

Imelda Staunton hit the headlines last year by saying food should be banned from the theatre and this week the producers of her latest play, Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf at the Harold Pinter Theatre have granted her wish.

An article on The Stage's website (www.thestage.co.uk) claims that in an email to ticket bookers, Ambassador Theatre Group – which operates the Harold Pinter – said no food would be allowed to be eaten during the show.

"Out of consideration for the actors and for fellow audience members, we ask that no food be consumed during the performance," it said.

I don't want to discourage people from going to the theatre, but if you can't manage a couple of hours without eating or checking your phone, well in my opinion, you shouldn't be there.

As you can gather, it really gets my goat and the stagey world has been filled with discussions over the best course of action for a long time.

Right, that's my rant over.

I didn't let the phone issue ruin my time in the capital and I had a busy week filled with theatre outings, which included another trip to see Wicked (awesome as usual) a visit to the Apollo to see Tom Stoppard's Travesties (a bit above me!) and my first ever visit to the National Theatre to see a play called Ugly Lies the Bone, which was pretty harrowing stuff.

I also auditioned for my latest local stage foray and I will let you know if I was successful in due course.

Next week I'm off to see The Diary of a Teenage Girl at Southwark Playhouse and as I'm a custodian of a female adolescent, I'm approaching it with trepidation.

I'll also have the pleasure of seeing Harry Potter star Daniel Radcliffe on stage at the Old Vic, which is very exciting and I've got a few celebrity interviews on the cards.

You can read all of my reviews and interviews on our websites londonnewsonline.co.uk and viewnews.co.uk or you can follow me on Twitter for regular updates @NickySweetland

SUBSTANTIAL FORMER INN OFFERING MUCH POTENTIAL

Harriet Stacy-Marks, Principal of Mayfair Town & Country, is pleased to market this substantial, detached house situated in a village location, on the West Dorset-South Somerset border.

Formally The Blue Boy Inn, Boughbeech has been internally renovated and offers flexible and very spacious accommodation including three reception rooms and six double bedrooms, all with en-suites. Built of local hamstone and under a slate roof the current owners converted the property into a residential dwelling approximately 10 years ago. In recent years, the property has benefitted from an internal renovation including the replacement of windows, re-wiring & plumbing and updating the fixtures and fittings, throughout. Outside the property offers large south-westerly facing gardens which sweep around the property, private driveway, double garage and two outbuildings; which are prime premises to be further developed (subject to necessary consent). The accommodation is extensive and versatile; besides making a wonderful family house the property could also lend itself to B&B purposes.

The asking price for Boughbeech is £499,950 and, in brief, the accommodation includes; Entrance Hall | Kitchen-Dining Room | Utility Room | Large Drawing Room | Formal Dining Room | Play Room/Third Reception Room | Workshop | Master Bedroom with En-Suite and Dressing Room | Five Further Double Bedrooms all with En-Suites | Outside; Driveway | Good-Sized Enclosed Rear Garden | Two Outbuildings | Double Garage

If you would like to arrange a viewing or have any queries, please contact Mayfair Town & Country's Beaminster office on 01308 862606. Further photos, the floorplan and our full brochure are available to view on our website, www.mayfairproperties.net

5 TIPS FOR CENTRAL HEATING

By Julia Gray, Press Association

1. The size of your home, especially the number of bathrooms or shower rooms you have, and how much heating and hot water your household uses, will largely determine your choice of boiler. There are three main types of boiler: regular, system and combi. Regular boilers need a cylinder (to store hot water) and tanks. System boilers also need a hot-water cylinder, which allows them to feed several outlets, such as taps and showers, at the same time, but they don't need tanks.

- 2. Combis are a popular choice, as you only have to find room for the boiler itself there are no tanks or cylinder, although some combis have a built-in tank, which gives the higher flow rate needed in a bigger property. Combis heat water on demand, so you only pay for what you use, and they deliver it at mains pressure. Combis are most suitable for homes with one bathroom/shower room, although they can work in homes with two, providing they're powerful enough. If you have more bathrooms than that, a combi probably isn't suitable.
- 3. If you're renovating a property that hasn't been updated in decades, it may be necessary to change the whole central heating system. A new boiler, cylinder, radiators and adjustable radiator valves should make a big difference to how good and efficient the system is, but don't overlook the pipework. If the central heating system is gravity fed and you're switching to a pressurised system, the pipework will be under pressure for the first time and may leak as a result. Old copper pipework may not be done to today's standards and may even be leaking without you knowing, so leaving it in place can be a false economy. Most plumbers now use plastic pipework where it can't be seen, such as under floorboards, because it's quicker and easier to fit than copper. They should use copper where it can be seen, such as radiator pipes, and close to the boiler, where it's too hot for plastic.
- 4. If your boiler has a hot-water cylinder, you may want to get rid of it by fitting a combi, or relocate the cylinder, as new cylinders are often a different shape and size to old ones. This could free up space in your bathroom for a shower cubicle where the airing cupboard/cylinder was, for example.

Old boilers also tend to be large, but many new ones aren't and some are so small that they fit in a kitchen wall unit, saving space and giving the kitchen a neater look because the boiler's hidden.

5. Think about any big home improvements, such as an extension or loft conversion, you may make in future and how this will impact on the boiler. Will the existing boiler be able to comfortably supply more radiators and bathrooms, or will you need a new one? If there's a tank for the boiler in the loft and you're planning to convert the loft, the tank will probably have to be changed to one that fits in the eaves' storage, so a boiler without tanks may be better.

Volvo Cars reveals new XC60 premium SUV maker, today revealed the longawaited new XC60 premium SUV at the Geneva Motor Show.

The new car replaces Volvo's highly successful original XC60, which in the nine years since its launch became the best-selling premium mid-sized SUV in Europe, with nearly a million units sold globally. The XC60 today represents around 30 per cent of Volvo's total global sales.

"We have a strong heritage in designing stylish and dynamic SUVs that offer the latest in technology. The new XC60 will be no exception. It's the perfect car for an active lifestyle, and it represents the next step in our transformation plan," said Håkan Samuelsson, President and Chief Executive, Volvo Car Group.

New comfort and safety technology

The new XC60, one of the safest cars ever made, is fully loaded with new technology. Steer Assist has been added to the ground-breaking City Safety system. A new safety system called Oncoming Lane Mitigation uses Steer Assist to help mitigate head-on collisions, while Volvo's Blind Spot Indication System (BLIS) now uses Steer Assist functionality to reduce the risk of lane-changing collisions.

"We have focused on building a car that can deliver pleasure to all of your senses - from a commanding view of the road ahead in a beautifully appointed and calm cabin, to a safe, inspired and confident ride," said Henrik Green, Senior Vice President Product & Quality at Volvo Car Group. "We've paid particular attention to making life easier for our customers by providing them with the creature comforts and services that take the hassle out of everyday life."

Pilot Assist, Volvo's advanced semi-autonomous driver-assistance system, which takes care of steering, acceleration and braking on well-marked roads up to 130 km/h, is available in the new XC60 as an option.

The new XC60 offers Volvo's award-winning T8 Twin Engine petrol plug-in hybrid at the top of the powertrain range, delivering 407 hp and acceleration from 0-100 km/h in just 5.3 seconds.

"We have a wide range of powertrains. The new XC60 will be launched with the diesel D4 engine at 190 hp and the D5 with PowerPulse technology delivering 235 hp. We also have the petrol-powered T5 delivering 254 hp and the T6 which, with both turbo and superchargers attached, delivers 320 hp and 400 Nm of torque," added Henrik Green.

But it is not just under the bonnet that the new XC60 delivers healthy performance. The new CleanZone four-zone climate control system removes harmful pollutants and particles from outside the cabin to deliver Scandinavian-fresh air on the inside.

Volvo Cars' driver infotainment and connected services offer, Sensus, and the Volvo On Call app both receive a graphical update with improved usability. As in the 90 series cars, smartphone integration with Apple CarPlay and Android Auto is also available.

Sculpted feel

"The XC60 is an SUV not designed to look down on others athletic sculpture with a subtle, timeless quality. The interior is a masterful composition of wellresolved architecture, beautiful materials and the very latest technology - all perfectly blended together. The XC60 provides a true Scandinavian our customers feel special," said Thomas Ingenlath, Senior Vice President, Design at Volvo Car Group.

Volvo Cars' new XC60 is set to go into production in mid-April at the Torslanda Plant

Blues in second half goal rush on Saturday.

Wessex Premier - att; 153 PORTLAND United came from behind to hit four second half goals without reply to maintain their bid for the title at The Grove

The Blues were presented with the January Sydenhams Wessex League Team of the Month award for the Premier Division prior to the match, and they needed to show that form against a big, strong Horn-dean side who drew first blood after 15 minutes despite playing against the strong back after a thigh injury.

Darren Watts had a chance to equalise when he ghosted in behind the defence to meet a corner, but his header went wide, as did a Ryan McKechnie shot.

After the break Portland were much more fluent as they used the wind to their advantage and controlled the game.

The equaliser came just after the hour when the Deans failed to clear Jamie Beasley's free kick, and Watts pounced to fire home from close in.

Ed Bastick, who was rested with a slight calf strain, replaced Alex Godfrey with McKechnie moving inside and almost immediately he scored, finishing off a good move involving Bastick and Max Buckler.

Three minutes later he added a second finishing neatly from 12 yards after Beasley and Watts had combined to set him up. Now well in control, manager Gary Bailey replaced Beasley with Lewis Clarke, for his first run after a hamstring injury.

Watts completed a superb second half for the Blues with the goal of the game. After being put through in the right chan-nel, he held off a defender, and dinked a glorious chip over keeper Tom Price from

Assistant manager Mark Carter said: They flew out the blocks and had us on the back foot despite playing against the wind in the first half.

"They pressed us very effectively, but there were several times when we did string some passes together and created opportunities, but I think they were worth their halftime lead for the way they closed us down so quickly."

Commenting on the Blues second half display he added: "We played a high line, I'm not sure whether they ran out of gas chasing the balls caught on the wind, or they felt that with the wind advantage they only had to play out time, but they underestimated us.

"We were outstanding in the second half and played some really controlled football against the wind."

On target for Corfe were Dave Johnston (3), Mike Corbett, Ben Gard and Cameran Shaw.

Division One

AFC Blandford moved up to third following their 7-2 win at Wool & Winfrith where Chris Dickson bagged four, Aaron Lawes two and Jake Ford a single.

Michael Collins and Robert Smiley netted for the Woolies.

Mere Town Reserves won 4-3 at Portland Town. Colin Upfold (2) and Danny Clifford scored for Portland.

Weymouth A and Portland Utd Youth played out an entertaining 4-4 draw with Manny Roach (2), Dean Taylor and Matt Swanage Town & Herston won 4-2 at Balti Sports Reserves. Balti's goals were scored by Liam Puckett and James Free.

Division Two

BROADMAYNE won 3-1 at Broadstone Reserves with Aaron Dodd netting the hosts consolation.

Chickerell Utd Reserves and Ower-moigne shared the points after 1-1 draw. Chickerell's goal from Ethan McLucas was cancelled out by Owermoigne's Danny

In the only other game Stalbridge drew 1-1 with Portesham Utd. Luke Turk netted for Stalbridge.

Division Three

AFC Blandford Reserves thrashed hosts Donhead 7-2 while Portland Town A won 2-1 at Corfe Mullen Utd Reserves with goals from Steve Reid and Colin Judge. Craig Moore netted for Corfe. Handley Sports won 3-2 at South Cheri-

Division One title race hots up

BUDMOUTH A dropped what could be two crucial points in their quest for the Division 1 title against bottom side Springfield B in their 28-4 victory and both rivals Budmouth B and Park District scored maximums.

Budmouth B beat lowly colleagues Budmouth B 30-8 to maintain a one point lead over Park who secured a 30-4 win over YMCA, and although Budmouth A have a game in hand over both, they are now 37 points behind the leaders.

Red Triangle scored a good win over Colliton X in a close 22-17 win; Derrick Dawson (9) top scoring for the Portlanders.

Preston B went into their final home match hoping to record a first win from the second half of the season but lost out to Shipton

In Division Two leaders Pilgrims A won their penultimate match of the season 20-14 against Springfield C, but their chances of taking the title are virtually zero. Shipton Gorge B remain nicely placed in second just four points behind and with three games in hand after a convincing 28-7 win over Colliton C, with All Saints just a point further away in third having played two games less Preston A closed the gap on All Saints after a thrilling 21-20 win over Shipton Gorge C. Locked at 18-18 going in to the doubles it was Eddie Chapman (5) and Simon Green (9) that secured the win with a fifth set win over Dan Corren (6) and Tom Baldry (7).

A crucial match for both Preston C and Wyke D near the bottom of the table ended in an 18-22 win for the latter.

The top two went head to head in Division Three with table toppers STEPS coming out on top 21-16 over Springfield D. They now have a 20 advantage as well as two games in hand over their rivals.

STEPS M had a convincing 30-5 win over Pilgrims B, which included a marathon five setter between Jonah Corren (9) and Alec

Roy Sharp scored a maximum in Wyke C's 26-9 win over Budmouth E; Ella Stant (5) and Jaimee Browne (3) scored Budmouth's two wins on the night.

Wey Valley School beat Preston D 22-10 with Thomas Wheeler and Ethan Bingham both scoring maximum points.

The weather was fine and sunny though the wind resulted in, on the whole, modest scoring.

It didn't seem to trouble George Brown in Division One whose nett score of 68 gave him a five-shot lead over second man (acb) Marcus Beresford with a nett 73 and awarded him a one shot handicap reduction. He also carded the best gross score.

The best score in Division Two was Karl Rogers' nett 72 who also received a one shot handicap cut. And being the day after St.David's day the next 4 places were all taken by Davids!

Bridport 74 Lychett Minster 5 Dorset & Wilts Division Two (S)

WITH only three games played since Christmas due to two clubs cancelling matches, this game versus Lytchett 2nds was one that the Bridport players really needed to play for match fitness and practice writes Stuart Briggs.

The game was originally due to be played in November but was cancelled when Lychett could not raise a team.

Thankfully they were able to fulfil the fixture this time, albeit arriving with only 12 players.

Bridport loaned them three in the spirit of the game that enabled the match to be played with 15-a-side.

Bridport were soon in the ascendancy with backs and forwards combining well to score

Poor handling after the last restart gave Lychett time inside Bridport's 22 and their pressure told with a try in the corner, ironically scored by one of the loaned Bridport players!
Injuries soon after meant that scrums were played uncontested and Bridport's superiority forced errors from the Lychett defence and a further three tries were scored before half time. The story was the same in the second half with Bridport forcing many turnovers and running in six unopposed tries.

The result maintained the Blues' third place in the league table.

Whilst the match time was valuable to the players, the Dorset & Wilts League two South has become a little uncompetitive with many clubs finding it difficult to run more than one team.

Therefore, for the Blues, the drive for promotion to the higher league is imperative to give them regular competitive league games next season.

However, they will face a much tougher test next Saturday at home to Wheatsheaf Cabin Crew who lie one place below them in

This game will follow the clubs VP lunch at midday followed by the six nations games on TV.

Gig Racing

Tempest delivers at Saltash for Lyme

LYME Regis Gig Club started the new gig rowing season in fine form at the traditional season opener at Saltash.

The Three Rivers Race features 80 crews giving a good test and a measure of how all those long hours of winter training have gone.

The race is around seven miles long, taking around one hour to complete.

Lyme entered two crews in the ladies race. The ladies A crew, rowing Tempest overtook a number of crews in the latter part of the race, including local rivals Bridport A, to finish in a club best of 24th. A healthy rivalry beckons this season between these two friendly local crews.

The ladies B crew, rowing Black Ven, knocked well over three minutes off last year's time.

Lyme entered three crews in the Men's category. The A crew, rowing Tempest, had a rapid start then settled into 11th position.

The B crew had a solid row, with a trio of Three Rivers debutants and one competing his first ever race, and they hauled in some notable scalps, including Cotehele Quay A, in what was a very strong finish in 32nd position. Finally the C crew in Rebel, had an outstanding performance from the outset, breaking free of the pack with only two B teams to keep them company for the remainder of the course. A controlled row would saw the Lyme crew hold their own against the B crews of Torridge and Salcombe to finish 57th.

The combined results put Tempest in 12th place overall, a club best for Lyme

The club now focus on eight weeks of training towards the World Championships on the Isles of Scilly at the end of April where they will enter seven crews.

The club are always keen to welcome new members, no experience required. Contact the club via www.lymeregisgigclub.com

Bridport Gig Club hold open morning on Sunday

BRIDPORT gig rowing club are holding an open morning on Sunday (March 12th) with taster

Bacon baps, tea, coffee and cake will be offer at the Salthouse, West Bay from 8am to 1pm. Taster rows will take place between 10.30am and 1pm when the club's three boats, Bucky Doo, Dagger and Blaez will be on the water.

Rows will last approximately half an hour. Gig rowing is open to all ages and no prior rowing experience is necessary. Sports clothes and trainers are recommended for taster rows.

The club offers general rowing and competitive squad rowing for adults and juniors throughout the year along with various levels of membership. For more information please visit the website: www.bridportgigclub.org.

QUICK thinking by Bridport A manager Mark Scadding ensured his charges didn't endure another blank weekend after it appeared certain that their home fixture with Portland B would be called off due to a waterlogged pitch.

Scadding arranged for the game to be switched to Portland, and despite a rather tired looking pitch at the Ricol Leisure Arena, his foresight worked as the young Bees side won 2-0. With neither leaders Swanage RBL or second placed Corfe Castle Reserves playing, it meant that Bridport closed the gap.

Corfe are now only two points ahead but have played three games more, and even if Swanage win their last three remaining fixtures, Bridport need just 16 points from eight games to claim the title.

Playing against the elements in the first half the Bees defence were under constant pressure from a series of long balls, but the visitors showed maturity beyond their vears, none more than mom Jamie Herbert and captain Callum Mid-

West Dorset Hockey

Hawks hold leaders with gritty display

West Dorset Hawks 3 Chard 3

ON paper this looked like an easy three points for leaders Chard who, having scored 96 goals in 18 games, and having conceded a miserly 26, looked odds on winners against a slightly under strength Hawks side that had lost their last three

However, with West Dorset desperate to stop the slide, they started with a very defensive line up to frustrate the visitors.

But they fell behind to a very unfortunate goal from a short corner, the umpires missing the fact the ball struck the stopper's foot before it was

Russell Coombs, deputising as captain for Rick Steele who was playing for the A team, rallied his troops and they instantly equalised.

Alex Davies' run ended in a short corner from which Dan Wyatt thundered home from the top of the D.

The same pair combined again soon after to put the Hawks ahead. Davies, having once again won a short corner, was cleverly played in by Wyatt to wrong foot the Chard defence and he swept the ball home.
Having beaten the Hawks 6-0 in the reverse fixture, Chard were becoming agitated as the second half started, but they drew level again when some superb play from the visiting striker resulted in a penalty flick for feet which was duly despatched.

Still unable to get the better of the Hawks, Chard became frustrated, and the umpires did well to keep control as some found their way into the sin bin.

A superb tackle from Matthew Keeping set up West Dorset's third 10 minutes from time. His inch perfect pass found Davies who deftly flicked home to complete his hat trick.

Desperate to hold off Penzance for the Southern Two title, Chard threw the kitchen sink at West Dorset in the final minutes and were once again the beneficiary of good luck when the ball just brushed the toe of Julian May as he went to intercept, and they converted the resultant Coombs was elated with his side's performance: "To hold the league leaders to a draw was superb. We showed great spirit to the end, and to score three against such a strong defence was excellent."

UNIVERSITY OF EXETER F 3 WEST DORSET A 0

LIKE the first team, West Dorset A found themselves facing a tough test after three defeats in

Uni are second, just a point behind leaders Tiverton and having already scored over 100 goals in 14 matches and conceding just eight, it

Bolstered by first teamer's Rick Steele and Rick Dormer, they travelled with an array of talent and age in the squad of 13, the youngest being the oldest well into his 60s.

The Hawks found themselves 2-0 down after just 15 minutes, the first a purposely deflected shot, the second a one-on-one situation which the attacker came out on top having dribbled the ball 40-yards unchallenged from a break-

However, they did not let the early sets back deflate them, and the excellent defensive back line dug-in to restrict the hosts to a handful of shots for the remainder of the half The back four of Henry Middleton, Lee Connelly, Rick Steele and Mike Harvey man-marked their counterparts exceptionally well, and made a string of crucial interceptions.

The younger opponents inevitably found more space as the second half wore on, and keeper Alex Drew was called to make a number

The students claimed their third from another purposely deflected shot which trickled over the Hawks hope to get back to winning ways this Saturday as they host Taunton Vale D who lie one place below them in the league.

Skipper Drew said: "All the team can hold their heads high with arguably the most committed performance of the season."

WOOLBRIDGE Motor Club returned to the chalfor the first rounds of the 2017 Motor Sports Association British Championship, the British Trial and Rally Drivers national series as well as the Association of South West Motor Clubs.

The start of the new season saw heavy rain, hail and high winds testing the drivers with continually changing ground conditions.

The event comprised of two divisions. One catering for drivers who were contesting the national championships and another for the local

The front wheel drive (no ballast) class in the clubman division saw the class victory go to Jez Searle in his Peugeot 106.

Searle was in good form from the off and was five points up on Dave Atkins and Robert North in their larger engined Citroen Saxo on the first

Atkins closed the gap to four points at the conclusion of the first round of tests but was unable to make further progress during the second round and went into lunch six marks in arrears with North a further three down. Searle secured his lead during the six tests that comprised round three and then annihilated his challengers on the final two tests to finish on 154 penalties with Atkins trailing by 22 points.

North showed how well matched the Saxo pair were completing 20 sections just four points adrift of the second place finisher.

The ballasted front wheel drive class attracted the biggest entry of all the categories in addition to providing the winner of the clubman event in the form of November victor Jim Forsyth.

Immediately after the start the Bournemouth driver had to deal with a challenge form Weymouth's Will Lawrence. Both were equipped with Citroen Saxos but Lawrence and his driving partner Dan Chazal were giving away 476cc but that did not hinder Lawrence during the first round of tests at the end of which he saw him level with Forsyth on 38 penalties.

The second round saw Forsyth eke out an advantage of two which had grown to twelve by the

The third in class award also went to a Wev-

Westfield hill climb driver taking the final position on the class podium in a Peugeot 106 Rallye which is pressed into service as a trials car during the winter months but will return to hill climb specification for the Woolbridge club's first hill climb of the season at Wiscombe Park in April.

Another award was bound for Weymouth in the hands of Dan Chazal who claimed the Junior Driver (under 23) accolade.

A two way battle in the sports car class between Alan Foster and Alastair Stevenson from Weymouth concluded with just 16 points deciding the verdict in favour of the former in his Morgan V8 over the local driver's MG TD.

Bere Regis residents Dominic Bishop and Julien Lightfoot enjoyed the closest fought competition of the day as they contested the specials category with the recently acquired SRB chassis. Both drivers enjoyed a battle with Bishop dropping 62 penalties and winning by a mere three points.

Brilliant victory sees Bridport in Over 60s county final RIDPORT Men's A team are through to the RIDPORT Men's A team are unough to make final of the Dorset Over 60s competition after a superb 44-34 win against the Isle of the monumental task of Purbeck, but now face the monumental task of beating Dolphin A who defeated their B team in the other semi-final.

The final will be played at Waterloo Road, home of the Dolphins on a date yet to be announced. Played at the neutral venue of Dorchester, the match against IoP contained a number of twists

Brian Baker, Ken Sanger & Mike Fletcher led 7-4, and Barry Mapson, Mel Griffiths & captain Phil Hedges led 7-1, but Purbeck turned it around by end 10 with Fletcher pegged back to 11-9 and Hedges falling behind 9-15. However, the next four ends saw Bridport surge ahead again scoring 19 shots to Purbeck's two to end their opponents

Baker said: "We would have hoped for a neutral venue for the final but the county finals are always played at the current President's club. But we are confident we can go there and snatch a win; a lot will depend on our kingpins Phil Hedges and Mike Fletcher, they are our Bobby Moore and Bobby Charlton, and have been brilliant over the whole campaign".

Beryl Stork, Peter Carnell, Robin Pither & Gerry Moss, and Sylvia Fletcher, Harry Gray & Peter Varney shared the top rink award against the Nomads in their Four Rink Mixed Friendly winning 16-12 and 21-17 respectively.

Sue and David Jenkin, Sandra Hargett & Bob Hill finished 2,4 to draw 17-17 but Nomads won the match 71-64 as Bernard Perry, Penny Pither, Nova Varney & David Aylott were beaten 11-25.

Moonfleet A 47 Bournemouth A 47

THE Ladies A team had a mixed game against visitors Bournemouth A in the Ladies County

June Searle, Helen Monelle, Chris Thompson & skip Margaret Crawford had a challenging game against the visitors under skip J Halliwell

Bournemouth took control of the first half and by end seven led 15-0. Moonfleet came to life over the next four ends and, with five shots gained on end nine, were lying only five shots behind at 10-15. But eight shots to the visitors on the next two ends put them back in the driving seat and, although the final eight ends were evenly split, the lead was too great and the home rink went down

The other Moonfleet rink of Mairi Mathie. Chris Rod, Anne Chislett & skip Kath Desmond moved into a commanding early lead helped along with an impressive six-shot haul on the second end against the Bournemouth rink with skip J Bryant.

By end 11 the hosts were lying 18-7 ahead and, with the exception of two ends each resulting in five shots to Bournemouth, the Moonfleet quartet dominated the remainder of the match to claim a stunning 31-17 victory and an overall 47-47 draw.

Moonfleet B 40 Isle of Purbeck 26

MOONFLEET B entertained The Isle of Purbeck in the Ladies County league in what was to be the last time Isle of Purbeck will play in the league as the club has sadly closed.

Pam Hayward, Ann Sherman, Heather Gillingham & skip Sheila Escott quickly took control and, by end 10 had moved into a 13-5 lead against the Purbeck rink under skip D Seacombe.

During the second half of the game the visitors failed to make any impression on the early lead and the hosts claimed a comfortable 23-10 vic-

On the other rink Mary Dunne, Julie Watts, Sue Paull & skip Jill Gwilliam also took control of the early stages of the game and by end seven were 9-2 ahead against the visitors skipped by U Keats. The Purbeck rink then won the next five ends and, by end 12 had levelled at 9-9.

Control then passed back to the hosts who moved into a 16-9 lead over the next four ends. However, the IoP quartet went up a gear and levelled the score at 16-16 by the penultimate end.

As the final eight bowls were delivered the tension mounted and, with one shot gained Moonfleet breathed a sigh of relief with a 17-16 win and an overall 40-26 total.

Zubar soars to head late Weymouth winner

Weymouth 3 Kettering Town 2

Evo-Stik South Premier – att: 457 WEYMOUTH edged past Kettering Town to record their first win in six league matches with a late headed goal from central defender Stephane Zubar.

In an enthralling encounter the Poppies scored twice to cancel out a Stuart Fleetwood goal and held the lead until the hour mark, but a strong last half hour saw the Terras score twice for victory.

With inconsistent performances and a defence that has conceded eleven goals in their last five games, manager Jason Matthews tried a new formation, employing a back three and operating wing backs, although first half injuries to Jake Wannell and Charlie Davis meant he had to swap things around.

Kettering had the first opportunity at goal but Gary Mulligan's header was well dealt with by Tom McHale in the Terras goal, before Stuart Fleetwood scored his 12th goal this year to give the hosts the lead on 14 minutes when he expertly headed Jordan Copp's

by Stuart Broom broom2006@btinternet.com cross back across goal and inside the far post. Soon after Wannell, one of the new back three, was forced off with a leg injury and replaced by Tiago Sa.

Kettering didn't take long to get back all square when Brett Solkhon was on hand to convert Rene Howe's cross into the box.

Sloppy defending

Three minutes later they took the lead when Aaron O'Toole took advantage of some sloppy defending to force the ball home at the near post from Liam Bateman's cross.

Five minutes before the break, Davis was stretchered off with a leg injury to be replaced by Billy Lowes, meaning more adjustment by Matthews.

Kettering felt they should have had a penalty just before the break when Copp blocked Dom Langdon's header on the line, claiming he had used his hands, and that it was over the line, but referee Tim Burley disagreed.

McHale saved well from Liam Canavan's fierce shot soon after the restart, before Weymouth drew level from the penalty spot just after the hour. Copp went down under a challenge from Canavan and he got up to convert past Liam Gooch.

Weymouth were now pressing for a winner, and both Copp and Ben Thomson went down in the box, but referee Burley was not interested.

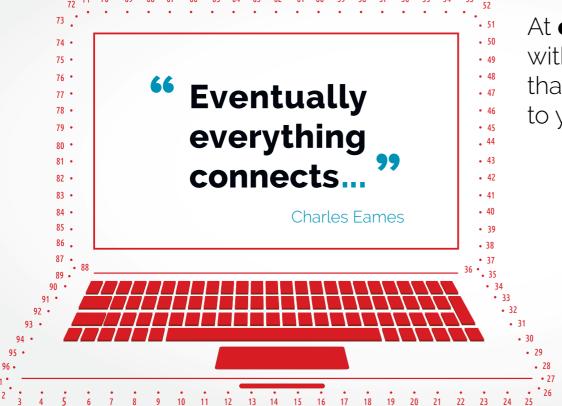

Although the Poppies were still going forward their attacks were less potent, and it was Weymouth that snatched the winner with just three minutes remaining.

Bateman felt he was fouled by Thomson when conceding a corner from which Copp had time to pick out Zubar who headed past Gooch.

On Saturday Weymouth travel to Merthyr Town managed by former Yeovil Town midfield maestro Gavin Williams
